

ABSTRACT

A molding equipment for a resin shielding semiconductor device includes a lower platen having a lower cavity, and an upper platen having an upper cavity, and a recess which is adjacent to the upper cavity. A lead frame has an opening serving as a passage of resin. The opening has one end rounded.